

Homeopathy for Birth Trauma

Harry van der Zee

Table of Contents

0	Introduction
1	Summarising 'Miasms in Labour'
2	The 'medicalisation' of reproduction
	Case of pregnancy after medically induced ovulation
	Case of IVF
3	Conception
	Case of a betrayed father
4	Being in the womb
	Case of a pregnancy full of sorrow
	Case of fear of birth injury
	Case of a baby presumed dead
	Case of early contractions
	Case of an early descent
	Case of no descent
5	Miscarriage
	Case of habitual abortion
	Case of living in two worlds
6	Stillborn babies
	Case of an angry frown
7	Unwanted pregnancies
	Case of an unwanted child
	Case of a tired woman
8	Induced abortion
	Case of abortion trauma
9	Elective caesareans
	Case of a premature caesarean
10	Twin pregnancy
	Case of a missing sister
11	The onset of delivery
12	Induced labour
13	The dilatation phase
	Case of a baby in a rush
14	Tokophobia
	Case of fear of labour pains and a history of sexual abuse
15	The function of pain during labour
16	Emergency caesareans
	Case of a baby refusing to be born
17	Full dilatation
	Case of a suppressed baby
18	The propulsion phase
	Case of a suppressed mother
19	Actual birth
	Case of difficult bonding

	Case of panic
20	Forceps and vacuum
	Case of terror
	Case of vacuum, forceps and manual expulsion
21	Maternal love
22	The capacity of the new-born to love
23	Postnatal
24	Natural birth
25	Home birth
26	Water
27	Birth Doula
28	Breastfeeding
29	Pelvic complaints during and after pregnancy
	Case of a bad mother
	Case of a perfect child
	Case of pelvic rupture
30	Perinatal and postnatal depression
	Case of a tired mother
	Case of a suicidal mother
31	Vaccination
	Case of migraine since MMR vaccination
	Case of IVF and vaccination damage
32	The Role and Purpose of Miasms
	Psora
	Tubercular
	Sycosis
	Typhoid
	Malaria
	Cancer
	Case of a spinal meningioma
	Syphilis
	Leprosy
	AIDS
	Case of a depressed HIV-positive gay man
	Case of final stage of AIDS
	Acute
33	Conclusion
34	Bibliography
35	Index of remedies